Debit Card International Transaction Fee

In your previous deposit account statement, we provided a notice of upcoming account changes. Please note the following corrected information about the international transaction fee assessed for debit card use: Effective after March 15, 2020, an international transaction fee for TD debit and ATM cards will be assessed when you use a non-TD ATM located outside the U.S. or make a purchase from a merchant outside the U.S. This fee applies whether you're physically located inside or outside the U.S. If you have any questions or want to find out more about this fee or other information included in your previous deposit statement, visit tdbank.com, call us at 1-800-493-7562 and choose option 0, then option 2 or stop into a TD location near you.

FINANCE CHARGES: Although the Bank uses the Daily Balance method to calculate the finance charge on your Moneyline/Overdraft Protection account (the term "ODP" or "OD" refers to Overdraft Protection), the Bank discloses the Average Daily Balance on the periodic statement as an easier method for you to calculate the finance charge. The finance charge begins to accrue on the date advances and other debits are posted to your account and will continue until the balance has been paid in full. To compute the finance charge, multiply the Average Daily Balance times the Days in Period times the Daily Periodic Rate (as listed in the Account Summary section on the front of the statement). The Average Daily Balance is calculated by adding the balance for each day of the billing cycle, then dividing the total balance by the number of Days in the Billing Cycle. The daily balance is the balance for the day after advances have been added and payments or credits have been subtracted plus or minus any other adjustments that might have occurred that day. There is no grace period during which no finance charge accrues. Finance charge adjustments are included in your total finance charge.
